Austin, Texas (September 25, 2018) – Pape-Dawson Engineers, Inc. is pleased to announce Scott Dukette, P.E. as a new Practice Leader in the Austin office. Mr. Dukette will serve as a key leader helping to promote and manage Pape-Dawson Engineers’ transportation services.

Mr. Dukette has 35 years of engineering experience covering a wide-range of projects for both municipal and private clients. He has managed and participated in the planning, designing, permitting, and construction of streets, roadways, water distribution systems, wastewater collection systems, site grading, drainage, landfills, retail projects, and military/industrial projects. Mr. Dukette also has many years of experience managing staff members and subconsultants, and utilizing the best resources to complete work on schedule and under budget. He has represented clients to a wide variety of regulatory and municipal agencies and departments.

“Scott’s experience is an important addition to our transportation team,” Pape-Dawson Engineers’ Senior Vice President, Gilmer Gaston, P.E., PTOE said. “With his broad and varied background in transportation and water resources, he will provide valuable leadership from project launch through construction completion.”

Mr. Dukette holds both a Bachelor of Science in Civil Engineering and a Master of Business Administration from Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute. He is a registered Professional Engineer in the State of Texas.
